Profile

People need someone to advocate, someone to trust when caught in the oftentimes stressful and challenging circumstance of a civil litigation dispute. Michael is that trusted advocate. He provides practical, well-planned solutions that protect our clients and advances their interests.

Services

- > Contract disputes
- > Commercial litigation
- > Judicial reviews
- > Commercial lease disputes

Michael's approach is resourceful and tenacious, whether it is providing timely and concise advice on commercial disputes, the judicial review process, or the successful litigation of a multi-million dollar asset recovery claim. He works to understand our clients' goals, clearly explain the options available and secure beneficial outcomes.

He has represented clients before all levels of court in British Columbia and prepared materials for use at the Supreme Court of Canada. At every stage of the dispute resolution process, he is committed to finding strategies for our clients to reach timely, efficient, and fair resolutions.

For Michael, preparation is the foundation of persuasion—a well-framed argument establishes an early advantage. By thinking critically each step of the way, Michael provides a cost-effective route through the labyrinth of litigation and helps clients successfully solve their legal problems.
